An old evil seen through young eyes – Rachel's moving story

Rachel is German and Jewish. She lives in Leipzig just before the outbreak of World War II with her doctor father, mother and older sister Annie. Life is comfortable, revolving around Sabbath meals shared with uncles, aunts and cousins.

When the Nazis arrive, the family is 'relocated' elsewhere in the city, and then taken away to a labour camp. Rachel's father saves her by making her hide in a kitchen cupboard, forbidding her to speak. The damage is done. Rachel remains mute – for years – as a result.

Rachel is discovered by a neighbour, Gertrude, who conceals her in her own home until Rachel is taken into care by the Red Cross and sent to an orphanage in England. But where is Rachel's family?

From the author of Hello God, a beautifully written and moving story that looks at one of the most horrifying episodes in our world's history through the eyes of a young girl.

- A beautifully written novel, that brings this story afresh to a new generation
- Comparisons: Hitler's Daughter, The Boy In The Striped Pyjamas

ABOUT THE AUTHOR:

Moya Simons has been writing for children for over ten years and has published twenty-five books. She has been shortlisted in the Young Australian Best Book Awards twice and has been published in the USA, UK, Germany, France and Malaysia

THE SONG OF THE WINNS

Frances Watts, illustrated by David Francis

'Alistair has been kidnapped!'

Alex, Alice and Alistair think they are just three ordinary mice, until Alistair mysteriously vanishes. Then Alex and Alice learn a secret about their family: a secret which means Alistair's life is in danger – unless Alex and Alice can find him first ...

So begins a hair-raising journey as Alex and Alice try to outrun enemy agents in a desperate race against time.

'Spies! ... Rebels!'

Meanwhile, Alistair is astonished to find himself in a far-off land where everyone – except his new friend Tibby Rose – is his enemy. But why? Pursued at every turn, the pair must try to unravel the mystery. And when they do, they discover that it is not only their own lives which are in peril ... the future of an entire country is at stake.

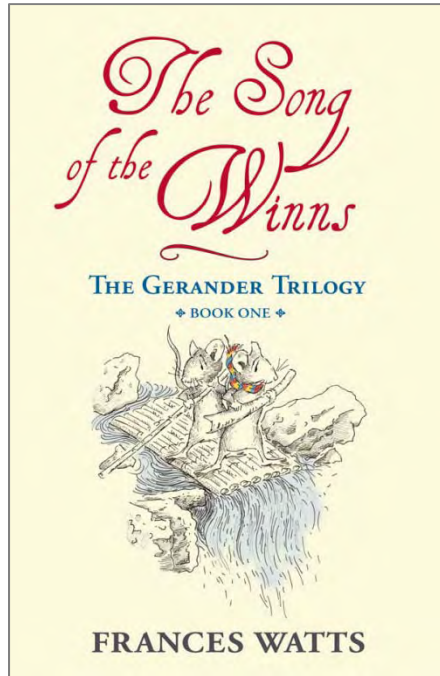

Says Frances Watts:

'When I first started writing The Song of the Winns, I set out to write the kind of book that I loved as a child: something fast paced and full of adventure, with characters that I would get to know and love. A book which was funny but could also move me. I wanted it to be a BIG story, too, a story to make the reader think – about power and its exercise, about responsibility, about injustice (the book was fast becoming a trilogy!). As Uncle Ebenezer says, 'All that is necessary for evil to prosper is for good mice to do nothing.'

- A hair-raising journey, exploring far-off lands, and out-running enemy agents in a race against time.
- Launch title in an exciting new fiction trilogy – the Gerander trilogy – with 3 brave mice as the heroes.
- Appealing to girls & boys, aged 9–12 years
- Critically acclaimed author: Watts' Extraordinary Ernie series awarded the CBCA Notable Book, 2009

ABOUT THE AUTHOR:

Frances Watts has worked as a bookseller, editor and author. Her first two picture books with David Legge both won accolades in the CBC Awards and have sold thousands of copies around the world. She is also the author of the charming Extraordinary Ernie series. Frances lives in Sydney's inner west.

DREAMS OF WARRIORS

Susan Brocker

'It's only me — Bella,' she said, as if the mad animal cared. 'I won't hurt you. Please, don't hurt me.'

Featherston in the Second World War is a tough and bleak place for fourteen-year-old Bella. Her father is away fighting overseas, while his family fight to save their farm from ruin and keep his dreams alive.

Bella, her mother and older sister have to cope with a herd of dairy cows, an unscrupulous neighbour who covets the farm, and a crazy, bad-tempered racehorse called Gipsy. Bella is terrified of the horse and doesn't know where to turn.

When help is offered from an unlikely source, will she have the courage to accept it or will Gipsy destroy her father's dreams?

- 'Horse fiction' at its best
- Ideal for boy and girl readers
- Addresses 'real-life' issues facing many young adults, such as trust, family problems and love.

A moving and exciting insight into the US, Australia and New Zealand's Pacific War at sea

Why is Savo Sound known as Iron Bottom Sound?

Paddy, a young schoolboy, becomes so obsessed with a book about the wrecks of warships sunk in World War Two battles at Guadalcanal that he's lucky not to be killed in a traffic accident. His parents ban him from reading the book.

But Paddy can still hear the voices of men who died during the Battle of Savo Island, one of the battles depicted in the book. He is horrified ... and fascinated. Whose voices are they? Why are they reaching out to him? Are they dangerous? Gradually he realizes that some of voices are Australian, like his grandfather. His grandfather had served in HMAS Canberra, an Australian ship sunk in the battle. While Paddy's Grandfather survived, they didn't ... and cannot rest.

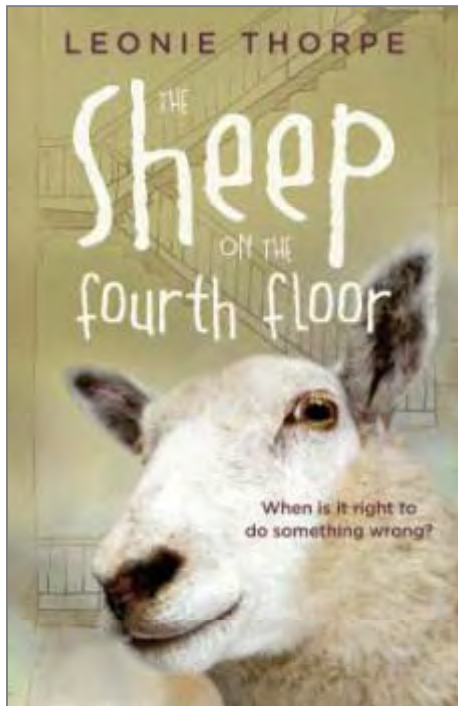

- The Guadalcanal Campaign was a significant strategic combined arms victory by Allied forces (US, Australia and New Zealand) over the Japanese in the Pacific theatre
- The U.S. Navy suffered such high personnel losses during the campaign that it refused to publicly release total casualty figures for years. But as the campaign continued, and the American public became more aware of heroism of the American forces on Guadalcanal, more forces were dispatched to the area
- 'Ironbottom Sound' is the name given by Allied sailors to Savo Sound, the stretch of water between Guadalcanal, Savo Island, and Florida Island of the Solomon Islands because of the huge number of ships and planes that sunk there.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR:

Sandy Nelson lives in Twizel, where she is a busy primary school teacher and mother. With a fascination for the stories of her own family's wartime experiences, she has researched the Battle of Savo Strait and interviewed survivors to bring authenticity to her writing.

SHEEP ON THE FOURTH FLOOR

Leonie Thorpe

Funny and poignant female coming-of-age story about the consequences of conscience.

Anna is the well-behaved and obedient child of professional parents. Her mother Penelope is a leading research scientist and her father a doctor – and she's been raised in a politically correct non-smoking vegetarian home, with a solid foundation of firmly held beliefs she has inherited from her parents.

However, Anna is shaken to the core when she organises a school trip to her mother's work and discovers that she experiments on live animals. A sheep is being held on the fourth floor away from all the things that make life good for a sheep – and he will be killed and dissected when the experiment is finished.

Horrified with what she now knows, she is further rocked to discover that her father is a secret smoker – despite lecturing his patients on the evils of smoking.

What follows is her way of dealing with her own moral dilemma – exciting, funny, poignant and probably illegal.

THE HORSE WHO BIT THE BUSHRANGER

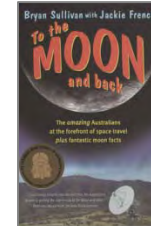

Jackie French

ABOUT THE AUTHOR:

Jackie French is a prolific and award winning full-time writer, whose rights have been sold to Korea, France, Portugal, Germany, Italy, Japan, Norway, China, the Netherlands, Brazil, Sweden, US and UK.

In 2000, HITLER'S DAUGHTER (9780207198014) was awarded the CBC Younger Readers' Award.

TO THE MOON AND BACK (9780207200090) won the Eve Pownall Award in 2005.

Most recently, A ROSE FOR THE ANZAC BOYS (9780732285401) was named an Honour Book in the 2009 CBCA awards.

A story of survival, second chances ... and a dance with danger.

Young Billy Marks is a pickpocket, transported to the penal colony of New South Wales. He and his mate reckon they'll become bushrangers – but that's before Billy's had a chance to see the bush up close. And when he buys the big white brumby stallion, covered with scars but refusing to bend to any man's will, he knows he made the right choice.

Billy's daughter Mattie Jane thinks her father can ride any horse who ever lived ... and so can she! But when tragedy strikes, the Marks clan, including Mattie and her beloved horse, Rebel Yell, will need all the courage they can find to keep the family together.

The deeds and disputed stories of Jackie French's own ancestors inspire another novel – a novel of proud and gutsy horses, trailblazing farmers and their resilient wives, and desperate men forced to break the law to survive.

The hilarious, madcap diary of eleven-year-old Blue Weston, during a year filled with pig chariots, leech attacks, dust storms and drought.

Blue Weston's life is spiralling out of control.

Her parents are sending her to boarding school next year.

Her mad twin brothers are building pig chariots in the back shed.

Her best friend has been abducted by aliens and replaced with a boy-crazy tween.

And then there's the drought that's showing no signs of ending soon ...

It's New Year's Day, and Blue has resolved to keep a diary of the year's events. It will be a year full of madness and fun – with the odd leech attack and bagpipe-loving pig thrown in for good measure. But it will also be yet another hard year of dust storms and drought.

Red Dirt Diary is the hilarious tale of tomboy Blue Weston, who lives with her family on a property outside Dubbo. Illustrated with black-and-white diary doodles throughout, it's the perfect book for fans of Robin Klein's Penny Pollard series and of Louise Rennison's Georgia Nicolson series.

- Funny, easy to read, and provides a child's view of rural life in Australia.
- Fans of Georgia Nicholson will love Blue Weston.
- Illustrated with doodles and graphic elements to make the book look like a child's diary.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR:

Katrina Nannestad grew up in central-western NSW. After studying arts and education at the University of New England in Armidale, she worked as a primary school teacher. Her first teaching job was at a tiny two-teacher school in the bush. Katrina now lives near Bendigo with her husband and two sons. Her first book, Bungaloo Creek, was published by ABC Books in 2001.

Ashleigh and her horse-mad friends find themselves facing new challenges at school – from a nasty cyber-bully pushing an anti-horse campaign to a redevelopment plan of their favourite Shady Creek Riding Club.

Ash recovers from her accident and discovers natural horsemanship – or horse whispering. In doing so, she learns to understand not only Lightning, the horse she was so badly injured by, but horses in general.

Meanwhile, Ash is up against a nasty cyber bully, and the anti-horse campaign at Linley is growing. Ash must speak out for Lightning at a meeting to save him from destruction. Overcoming her fear of riding, she finishes the term triumphantly moving to Level A. It looks like her scholarship is finally secure.

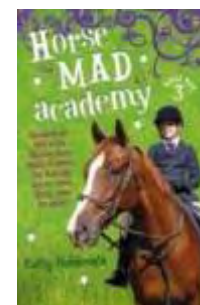

But her friend Becky is desperate for help – the land that Shady Creek Riding Club uses has been earmarked for development and lots of the boys have quit horses for football. Ash, Becky and Pree come up with a brilliant plan – starting a polocrosse club and kicking off a regional competition. Will it be enough to save Shady Creek Riding Club?

- The latest instalment in a wonderful series about horses, riding and friendship, perfect for girls aged 9–12.
- Horse series never lose their appeal – particularly with young girls, and Horse Mad has the perfect combination of friendship dramas and accurate stories about horses.
- Comparison Titles: Saddle Club and The Silver Brumby.

JADE AND THE STRAY

Amy Brown

Jade loves reading about beautiful, clever horses and their young riders. It takes her mind off her real-life troubles ...

It must be Fate. After a family tragedy, eleven-year-old Jade Lennox has moved to tiny Flaxton to live with her grandfather. A whole year in the middle of nowhere, and the future looks bleak.

Until, that is, she finds someone else who's lonely and despairing – a pony under a death sentence.

Jade can't let the black pony die. But what can she do? She has no money, no land for grazing, and doesn't know the first thing about looking after horses.

What she does know is that she must save the stray ...

- Book one in the Pony Tales series, a proposed 4-book series
- Engaging, vivid writing for young readers who love reading about horses and ponies
- Exciting, life-or-death situation as Jade befriends and rescues an abandoned pony

ABOUT THE AUTHOR:

It's almost Christmas in Cameron's Creek and it's a time for wishes, big and small.

But Scarlet, the oldest of the Rainbow Girls, is not so sure if wishes can come true.

The kitchen at the Kingdom of Silk is warm and sweet with the smell of buttery shortbread and steamed plum puddings. And in the kitchen of the Colour Patch Café, Scarlet has made a new friend, Anik.

When Anik tells Scarlet about his home far away and of all the things he has lost, Scarlet is determined to make a difference. And so she decides to declare peace on Cameron's Creek, and maybe even the world ...

In Plum Puddings and Paper Moons, the fifth book in the Kingdom of Silk series, the focus is on Scarlet, the oldest Rainbow girl, who is pondering the biggest question of all – how can she change the world? This is a book about making new friends, finding out if wishes can come true, and discovering that even a small change is still a step in the right direction.

Kingdom of Silk is a wonderful series for young readers who are just discovering the joys of independent reading. It has the power to transport the reader to a land of whimsy and to connect with them on a deeper level. Plum Puddings and Paper Moons will be read and loved by readers who have followed the series from the beginning, and those who have only just discovered it.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR:

Glenda Millard has written picture books, short stories and novels for children and young adults and has won many prestigious awards for the books in the Kingdom of Silk series. Glenda lives in country Victoria with her family.

Lindsay Wood

The fat boy strikes back in an exciting and satisfying action adventure.

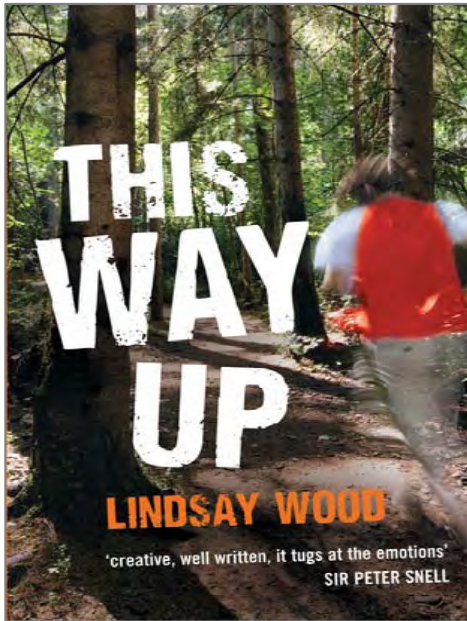

Cory is an overweight, shy young high-school student, who spends all his spare time playing CounterStrike on the computer. Concerned about Cory's weight and his isolation, his mum finally gives him an ultimatum: join a school sports team or broadband will be cancelled.

Realizing that for once he cannot get his own way, Cory surfs the net to research the sports options on offer. Orienteering, he reads, can be 'like a stroll in the park' – Cory's idea of adequate exercise. Match! But when Cory joins the school orienteering club, he finds quite a bit more than strolling is required. Competing alone in the back of beyond, Cory discovers he needs to learn to work with Nature if he is to win ... and indeed survive. So he harnesses all of his CounterStrike experience to become a 'cunning runner' and try to finish the race against the odds.

The title refers to the two vital pieces of information the orienteer needs to know: which way is North, and which way is up, something Cory has to learn in every sense of the word.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR:

First time novelist Lindsay Wood is an architect and orienteer with a grandchild in each island. His business is a mix of commercial and residential architecture, and he divides his time between Nelson and Auckland. A keen observer of human nature and passionate advocate of the outdoors

'This is the sort of book that whispers to readers "pick me" ... it promises to deliver something special. A visual feast, the digital illustrations are unsettling, yet compelling, while the story (Tim Burton meets Diana Wynne-Jones) will keep older readers enthralled' Sunday Age

In the streets of Bankertown, where children are threatened with the grey and forbidding walls of The Institution, a young girl called Alice rebels by daring to show imagination. Is she the child destined to save Bankertown and bring colour, light and imagination back into the world? Determined not to take any chances, The Banker sends his vermin-infested lieutenant, the terrifying Catcher, through the clouds to hunt down Alice and her companions.

The story continues in THE CLOUDCHASERS: THE EAST WIND:

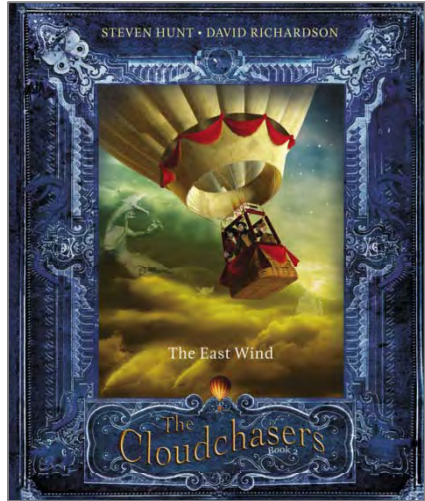

When Alice, Thomas and Spinner discover they must find the Banker's father to complete their quest, their search takes them to terrifying and fantastic worlds. On their travels through the peril of the Lopper's world to the freezing, desolate waste of Tebbit's land of nightmares, they encounter the Wandering Seers, a sand-monster bureaucrat, Mad King George and the daffy Forgetmeknot and his homemade flying craft. Will Alice ever find the Banker's Father? Can she and her companions avoid the relentless Catcher and his minions? And what secret does Spinner hold that will decide the fate of them all?

- A stunning tale of grand adventure in the spirit of Jules Verne, Miyazaki and Lewis Carroll.

Welcome to the amazing natural world that surrounds us. A fun, factual, wild and wacky introduction to the animal kingdom.

GUESS WHO'S COMING TO DINNER

A tummy-rumbling look at what's on nature's menu. Learn all about the wild things some animals eat, how much they eat (super-size me!), the extraordinary ways some animals bring home the bacon and some of the wackiest facts you'll ever read about animals and their eating habits.

SKIN DEEP

In the animal kingdom, it's not what's on the inside that counts! Discover everything there is to know about animals and their skin - how they use it to attract, repel, hide and stay cool or warm. Fascinating and fun.

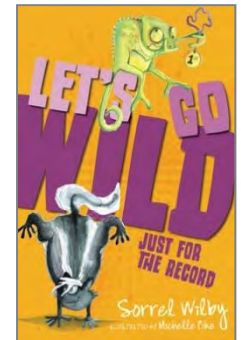

JUST FOR THE RECORD

If you think the Olympics are fantastic, wait till you read about the sporting achievements in the animal kingdom. In this world, though, there are prizes for coming dead last! Nature is truly amazing ...

- A wild and wacky introduction to the animal kingdom.

Kids CAN clean with Shannon Lush, every parent's best friend.

It's true – kids CAN clean! And if anybody knows how to make it happen, it's the Domestic Guru, Shannon Lush. This illustrated book for children covers everything from removing the squashed banana in your schoolbag, to tidying up your bedroom, personal hygiene (or why you should take your finger OUT OF YOUR NOSE), to cleaning up after your friends.

Cleaning can be fun with Shannon Lush and her simple but effective tips for children of all ages.

- Includes photos and illustrations and written in a lively, bubbly style to appeal to children aged 7 and over.
- Over 10,000 copies in print
- Previous adult cleaning books have sold over 650,000 copies in Australia and New Zealand.
- Spotless rights sold to US, UK, Italy, Brazil, Norway, Slovenia

ABOUT THE AUTHOR:

Never stumped for an answer to a domestic disaster, radio personality, wife, mother and grandmother Shannon Lush became a 'surprise' celebrity in late 2005 with the publication of her first book Spotless, co-written with Jennifer Fleming. Shannon is now a household name. She appears regularly on TV and radio programs in Australia and New Zealand and she contributes advice columns to several newspapers and magazines.
